EASYGUARD SECURITY - by Toshiba

Execute Disable Bit — Prevents buffer overflow virus attacks by enabling the laptop's processor to distinguish between bits of code that should be executed & ones that cannot be as they pose a threat to the system.

Password Utilities — Normally, you can set a password for booting your laptop from the BIOS setup screen. Such a password prevents unauthorised system access before it boots.

Device Lock — The Device Lock software allows supervisors to restrict access to the laptop's devices and interfaces. It is a BIOS-supported tool set that helps to prevent unauthorised access to the laptop or unauthorised copying of confidential files.

HDD Protection — In case of shock, vibration or fall, the hard disk drive (HDD) head can scratch the spinning disks while reading or writing data, causing damage to the HDD and data loss.

Satellite Pro U200

An ideal blend of performance portability and security - the Satellite Pro U200 is Toshiba's latest ultra portable notebook. Designed for people on the move the U200 series is powered by Intel's latest processors. Toshiba's innovative EasyGuard feature set is incorporated providing for example a spill-resistant keyboard, shock protected Magnesium Alloy chassis and shock protected HDD

FUJITSU COMPUTERS SIEMENS

* TERMS & CONDITIONS : First 30 days free applies to the 30 days following connection to the web 'n' walk Plus Plan. Web'n'Walk use in the UK only. Minimum term contract and credit check applies. . Subject to coverage. Mobile broadband subject to HSDPA service availability. To ensure a high quality of service for all our customers, a fair use policy of 3GB (of data both sent and received in the UK) per month applies. If you exceed 3GB per month, we may tell you to reduce your future use. If you again exceed 3GB per month, we may tell you that we are going to apply network protection controls, resulting in a reduced network speed for 14 days. If you exceed 3GB per month for a third time, we may tell you that we are going to apply further network protection controls, resulting in a reduced network speed until you upgrade your price plan to include a larger data allowance. We do not permit use of this service for internet phone calls. Roaming charges apply.

Subscription provides unlimited use (subject to the following fair use policy) of T-Mobile HotSpots in the UK and 300 minutes a month to use at BT Openzone Hotspots in the UK. Customers who make excessive use of the service may be asked to reduce their use. If usage continues to be excessive, T-Mobile may move these customers to another plan. T-Mobile currently considers "excessive" use to be 30GB or more of data per month (sent and received). We reserve the right to vary this policy, but will notify you if we do. Subject to a single, immediately repeatable, session of 6 hours in duration. You will lose eligibility for your free subscription if you move to another price plan. You may lose eligibility if you upgrade or otherwise renew your minimum term contract. HotSpot terms and conditions apply. Username and password are non-transferable.
